MARCH

2017

How much attention will you get if all you need is a ten-dollar part?

It sits on a shelf at one of Mid-Continent's maintenance facilities . . . a small part for an ag aircraft. Insignificant, really.

But, if that part happens to be the one you need to get your plane back in the air, it suddenly represents our whole philosophy of doing business. That is to give the same attention and concern to your order as if you were buying one of our new or used Thrushes, Air Tractors, Ag-Cats, or Cessnas. Or maintenance or insurance.

If that part is important to the success of your aerial application business, it's important to us. Because you're important to us.

Call us for all your aerial application needs.
